Years, The Years In Which We Grow And Learn

The Green Years,
the formative years

The Years in Which We Grow and Learn . . .

quicken into new dramatic life the first day we crossed the bridge and viewed the tower. Days of laughter, gaiety, and companionship—moments which will never be forgotten, lasting friendships brightened our four years at Withrow. Now, as we come to realize that our time at Withrow is growing short, we find ourselves hesitating on the bridge and turning back "to glimpse once more our school tower against the sky."

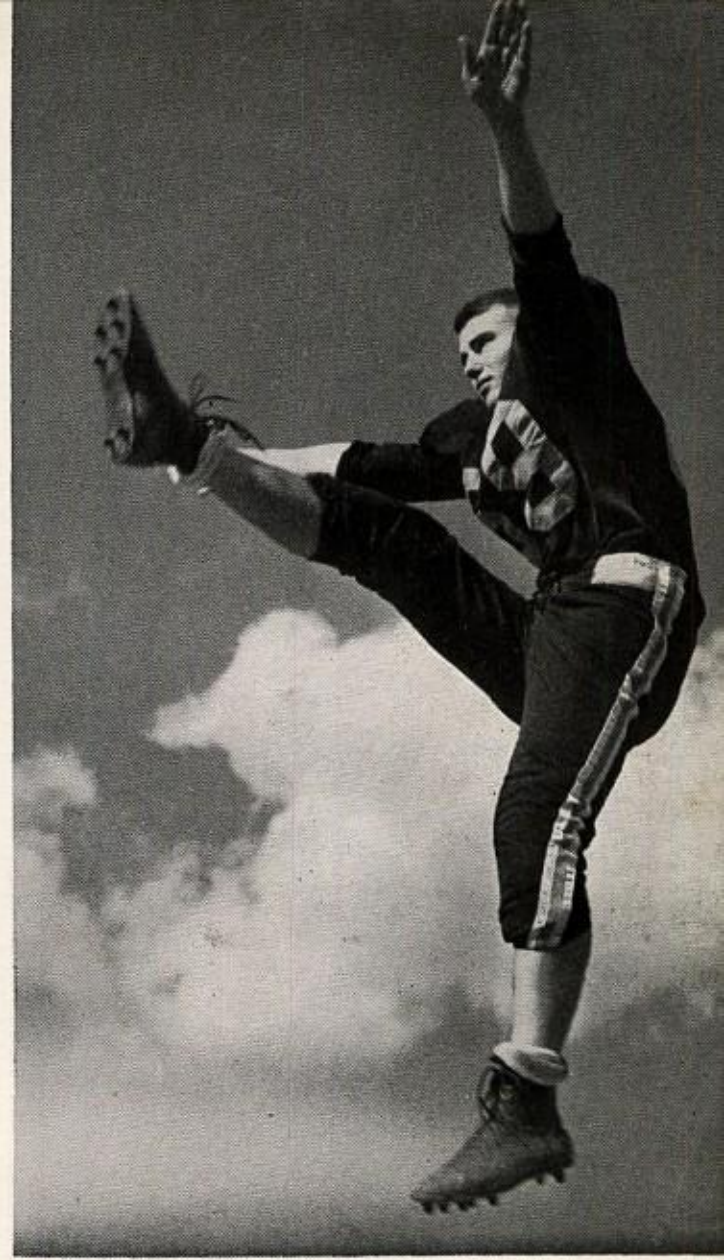

As a tree is shaped through its environment . . .

The 1950 Withrow Annual
WITHROW HIGH SCHOOL, CINCINNATI, O.

The Key to this, our 1950 Annual! As the greenness of a tree indicates life, so "The Green Years" mean development for every pupil in Withrow, from the youngest seventh grader, to the most learned senior: mental growth from studies; physical growth from athletics and planned gym courses; social development from contact with teachers and pupils in their classrooms and elsewhere.

our personalities, strengthened through

Say, did you ever think about the way people impel you toward maturity? If you haven't, take a peek at this! You'll find intrigued, yet hesitant, freshies who don't quite know what to make of the opposite sex; sophomores who aren't so shy; and yon bold juniors who seem to have the situation well in hand. We won't mention seniors at this point. Ever think about it?

← Nothing is said; smiles tell the tale for a tongue-tied freshman.

"Parting is such sweet sorrow" when the tardy bell rings and the nod of the teacher calls us to class.

One by one the petals fall and the answer, which the girl already seems to know, approaches unveiling. "Dearie! Do you remember? If you remember."

The advances can be made in more fields than one.

The Oral Class studies the eye, the organ of hearing for the deaf.

New methods in teaching blend with the high standards of the old to give Withrow a fine academic rating. Miss Ruth Grove, who has served Withrow 31 years, typifies the Traditional approach toward education. Mrs. Delores Miles employs unusual teaching procedures to help her class of deaf and hard of hearing Withrowites learn how to live.

Advising frats and sororities on their problems is a big job for Miss Tilford.

For many pupils, school does not end at three P.M. Participation in after-hours, extra-curricular activities, like Minstrels and the now officially-recognized fraternities and sororities, adds zest to the green years of alert Withrowites. Activities provide their members with fun, responsibility, and the joy of accomplishment.

but the important social events are not forgotten

The well known recipe for fun with girls is p. js., cokes, cards, and a piano, spiced heavily with confusion. The result: a slumber party.

Take one television set, surround with boys, add spine-tingling mystery, mix well with food—any kind. Result: a group of smiling fellas.

Our social relationships are an essential part of our all-around growth. The ability to get along with others can make or break our high school life. Social "Know-how" gives us a sense of security which is important in securing an education. However, to most of us, this adds up to a time when textbooks are forgotten, and friends remembered.

Graduation! Never again will we experience the feeling of importance we knew on this memorable day. We feel the pride of graduation conflict with the sorrow of treading the pathways of Withrow for the last time, as students, when we file down the tree-lined drive to the crowded stadium in the final dignity of cap and gown. We say goodbye to more than places—friendships are also ended.

as our years of growth through human relationships

Class Day! How many connotations can these words have? For the Juniors, they mean realization of an almost ended high school career. Sixteen receive the red carnations of Dux Femina and twelve become members of Sigma Gamma; the Harvard and Columbia books are presented to two boys tops in scholarship and character. For the Seniors, four years of hard work and development are completed successfully.

of classrooms to the fun of parties.

The stimulus for our growth at Withrow is provided by the administration. Through sound counseling, and sympathetic understanding, the newcomer is able to establish a firm foundation upon which to build. The friendliness and sincerity of purpose displayed by the administration permits us, the students, to improve ourselves scholastically, culturally, physically and socially throughout "The Green Years" at Withrow.

Our understanding administration will sympathize and encourage;

Mr. A. O. Mathias has just completed his second year as principal. He is also adviser of senior boys and sponsor of Sigma Gamma, the senior boys' honorary society. He has clearly demonstrated ability to direct the school with forethought and judgment. His good nature, however, is uppermost as it sets the tone for Withrow.

Did you ever wonder how the ever-busy book room operates? Just ask its able director, Mr. A. I. Vigard. Our enthusiastic Assistant Principal eagerly helps the mischievous, problem-laden sophomore and junior boys for whom he is adviser.

You can always find Miss Rose Agerter, Dean of Girls, in 204 helping girls in their problems concerning colleges, scholarships, vocations, and school programs. She is also the ever-dependable adviser of Dux Femina, senior girls' honorary society.

Assistant Principal in charge of Withrow Junior High, Mr. R. G. Wilbur helps his seventh and eighth graders adjust to a new atmosphere and prepare for senior high. He may be proud of these "Effies" and "E-flats"; they excel in school spirit.

thus we are guided in these

If you happen to drop in Miss Agerter's office any school day, you will surely see her assistant, Mrs. Virginia Konrad, whose crowded schedule includes handling withdrawals, the census, study hall roles, and sponsoring Tip Toppers.

When a befuddled "Freshie" girl drifts about blindly at Withrow, she can obtain friendly advice from Miss Lulu Murphy. Minstrel time finds her knee-deep in buttons and bows, as she selects costume designs and directs sewing.

During his two years at Withrow as Vocational Counselor and adviser of Freshman boys, Mr. Roy Anderson has given freely of his time and energy. Any pupil may receive sound advice from him on questions concerning professions.

The friendly secretary to Mr. Mathias, Miss Wanda Hoefle, aids the principal, works with rebate pupils and handles correspondence.

Always seen hustling about the office is Miss Martha Allen, office secretary. Her duties range from issuing the daily bulletin to filing school records.

Right-hand assistant to Mr. Vigard is Mrs. Jack Hammann, who helps with the book room and clerical work.

Mrs. Virginia Watson is constantly occupied with the telephone system and instructing student assistants.

Mrs. Laverne Bolmer, secretary to Mr. Wilbur, never finds a dull moment in Junior High, where filing cards and answering letters are a few of her duties.

What I think about the library

Demonstration is vital in gaining knowledge

The hermit menaces Edward as an English I class dramatizes "The Prince and the Pauper."

The Withrow library's wide selection of books provides students with the best of all types of literature. Here students learn what scholars have said in all ages. Miss Pooley and Miss Rehring give needed assistance to those seeking references, outside reading material, or special magazines. Classroom discussions enable us to widen our views by hearing what others think. An English I class discusses the dramatization of The Prince and the Pauper, a novel read by most freshmen. A hula-hula skirt and a burlap sack are only two of the unusual properties used to recreate this scene.

or prove through experience, facts of past research.

The people count in a classroom; teachers and students work together in the give-and-take of a rousing discussion or a more serious "look at the record." Through daily routine, we grow better fitted to go out in the world as citizens, carrying with us the idea of democracy. In our language classes, we learn about other countries. Math classes teach us to use our minds logically, as we ponder theorems and square roots. Science classes help us to reason; memorization and accurate reading are also vital. In our history classes we examine events which have come before us so that we can better comprehend what is happening today in our chaotic world. In all classes, we learn from each other as much as from the teacher. Our opinions are important; we should not be afraid to voice them readily.

Girls carefully combine new elements. Surprising results may soon occur!

as well as create in fields which most interest us.

Wonderful? The cooking teachers still just can't believe it! After all, what would you do with a huge refrigerator, lighted ovens, and a new room for parties and movies? Even our hard-bitten males have fallen for the homey effect. What with snack-bars, tops in modern equipment, and the newest safety devices, how can we help but turn out top chefs and wives in the future?

As for the collage, it's a combination of art and sculpture designed to please the eye by our modernistic "artists" of Art IV. Like it?

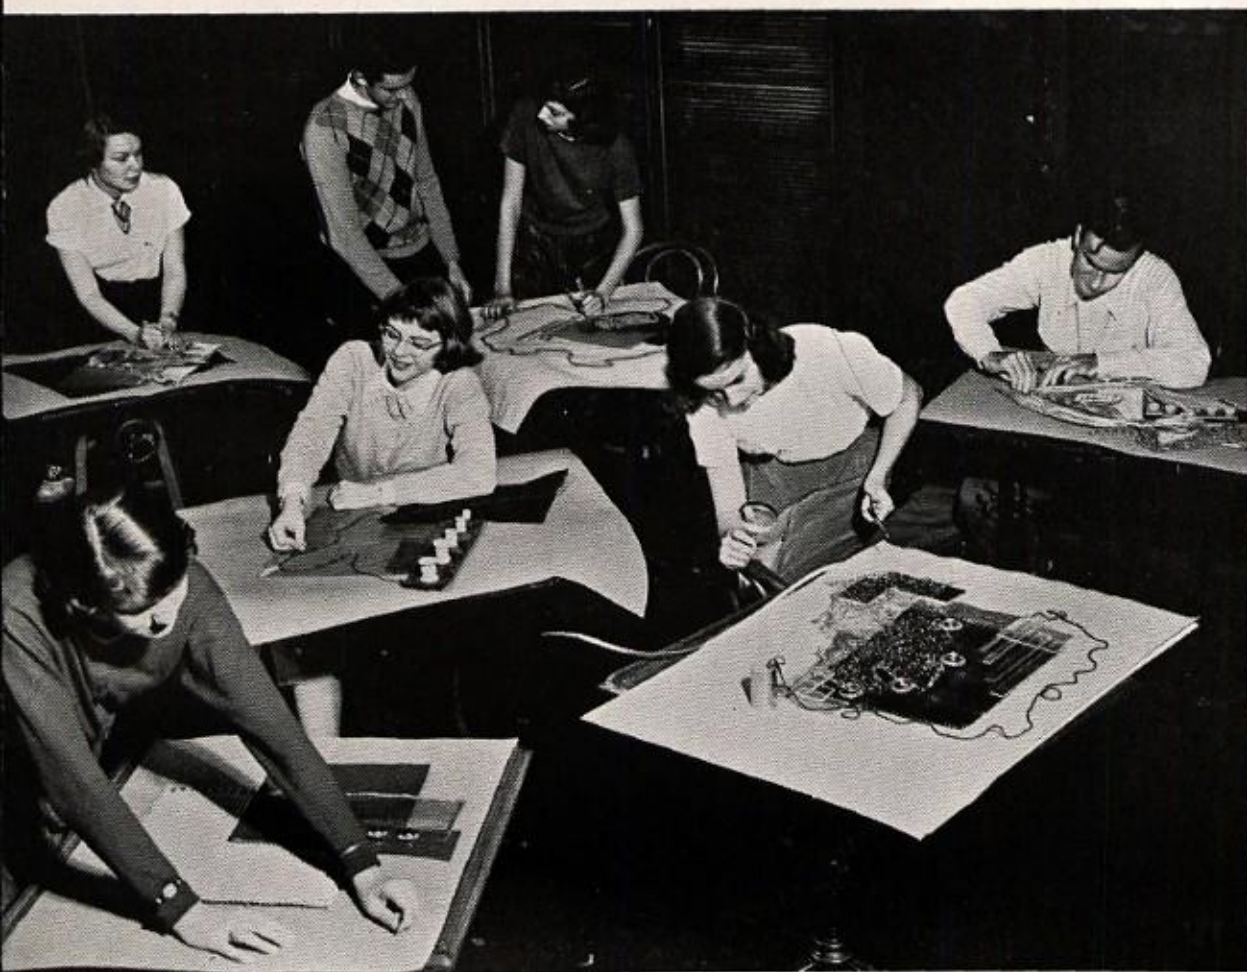

What's this, a collage? Come again, Elmer!

Smell that? Student chefs simmer and stew, scorch and scald, on brand new stoves.

Nimble fingers are required for art and stenography.

What's in a line; what's in a color? After a session here, we wonder more than ever. Here's the class that furnishes us with the future boss-sitters of the business world.

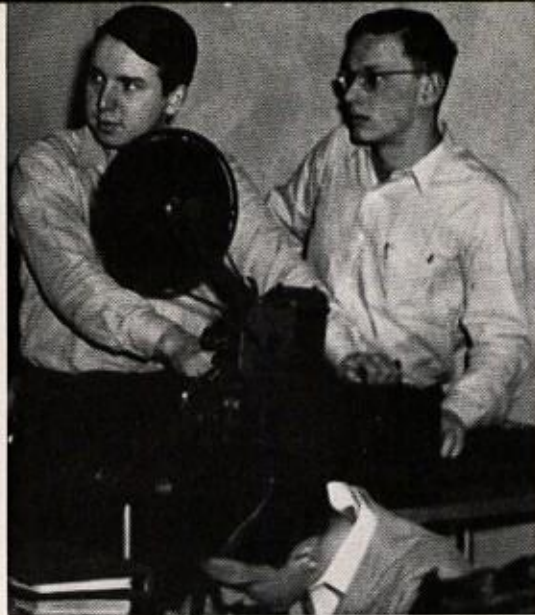

Calling all bottle caps, odd bits of rope, steel wool, leaves, tin cans, spools, and buttons: these are the materials necessary to help our too sophisticated "R a p h a e l s" complete their varied collages. After adding a few geometric figures, some sculpture, and some basic principles of art, they proudly bring forth their masterpieces, concoctions simply out of this world.

In stenography classes, girls learn to use the dictaphone and to improve their shorthand in preparation for a future job. By the time the course has been completed each student is more than ready to meet the trials and tribulations of the business world.

Our orderly type keeps the counters well-stocked and the figures straight.

Many work during a "free" period or after

Among many jobs at Withrow filled by students are those in the lunchroom: cashiers, "strong men," and those who keep the serving tables filled. Then there are "master-minds," capably directed by Mr. Rhollans in the art of keeping Withrow's monetary affairs straight. Here, in room 131, the latest equipment is put to use in filing receipts and other business matter. Certainly these ambitious pupils take a great deal of responsibility upon their shoulders.

Freshmen – from the fresh and frenzied, through the Hey, girls, step it up! Don't be so pokey! Time's a-wasting.

Stumbling through the endless halls, freshmen, in a flutter of enthusiasm during the greenest years of their high school life, make exciting new friends. Among these acquaintances, they will find friendships that will enrich their personalities. As they begin the fall term, they choose courses in preparation for college or a job. Sophomores, more at home in Withrow, undauntedly defy the hypodermic needle and the X-ray of health exams. Now proven fit, they may join clubs which are open to them, like Senior Choir or the language groups. Juniors, proudly upperclassmen, contemplate senior responsibilities a trifle soberly as they select twelve outstanding members of their class for Senior Council; these representatives will choose class jewelry. With study and activities, the first three growing years move rapidly toward a fourth and final year in senior high school.

What is to happen now? It's all so very new and different.

The hardest year, and yet the most fun—that's the story the juniors give us. Now they begin to look beyond high school, through college and vocational conferences. The more brainy eleventh graders face such perplexing subjects as physics and bookkeeping. Offsetting these are activities like Scribblers and Philologia. Juniors only regret that they have but one year left at Withrow. Those lucky freshmen, just starting.

Now settled and very much at home in Withrow,

I'll study hard on just what I don't know; The heck with it all, now to bed I will go; Here's hoping my knowledge the bluebook will show!

Our senior year, the zenith year, has come at last. 1947, 1948, and 1949 have provided an invaluable foundation from which we advance into 1950. Now we are no longer confused and muddled strangers. We know the rooms and recognize the faces; we are a part of Withrow and it is part of us. The final stirring strains of "Minstreleers," the day our football team left the gridiron victorious, the thrill of rounding the track to the pulsating rhythm of "Pomp and Circumstance" — these vibrant experiences have grappled us together with an ever-strengthening hold.

One of the most significant honors which may come to a Junior is his election to Senior Council in the spring. As the governing body of the Senior Class, the Council selects Graduation Announcements, prepares the Class will and Testimony, and outlines the graduation program.

Here they are: the twenty-six busiest seniors at Withrow! Yes, the Dux Feminas and the Sigma Gammas are really outstanding in every field. Chosen for their high grades, personality, and activity records, they are the leaders, the "big wheels" around school. The boys of Sig keep busy by sponsoring the Prom, electing Withrow's homecoming queen, and presenting a scholarship to a worthy senior. The Dux girls sell hot dogs at football games, give a scholarship, and really relish their parties. These seniors have attained the high and honored position that every eager underclassman some day hopes to hold.

Withrow is forced to punt to Shortridge.

A Hornet is stopped as Central bows to the Tigers.

Sports not only offers physical growth; one may also enlarge in other aspects, gaining an academic understanding of the games and comradeship through team play. All this is liberally provided by our Athletic Department. The sports in which Withrowites may participate include more than acquired skills such as gymnastics; they capitalize on man's natural actions of running, throwing, and jumping. Those after-school hours of work to perfect these basic movements according to the specific sport are well rewarded in the enjoyment of playing and honors gained through interscholastic competition.

Material, coaching, and

Through football, character, minds, and bodies are built. Growth begins in the embryonic stage of freshman football, where the player learns how to "take it," and studies the fundamentals. In reserve football, all that has been assimilated thus far is put to use. The competition becomes stiffer now; growth continues, as the players specialize in their best positions. Varsity football, the last step, uses only those who have survived the screening out of the previous years. The speed of the game demands mental agility. The body contact and constant training improves one physically. Gentlemanly conduct promotes high morals; all these are essential to the sport.

Withrow 35 — Reading 7

Ahead early in the first quarter, the Tigers looked ready for the season.

Withrow 35 — Xavier 13

Scoring three touchdowns in the final three minutes, our promising eleven proved its worth under the lights.

Withrow 14 — Shortridge 7

"Lest we forget"—our rivals from Indianapolis felt Withrow's power.

Withrow 0 — Purcell 49

Let's forget!

Withrow 0 — Western Hills 13

The Tigers met a wet field with undampened spirits, but dropped their league opener.

Withrow 48 — Walnut Hills 19

Coming back into the winning column at the PHSL double header, Withrow rolled.

Withrow 34 — Central 7

At home again, Andreadis went wild scoring all five tallies supported by excellent team play.

Withrow 34 — Hughes 13

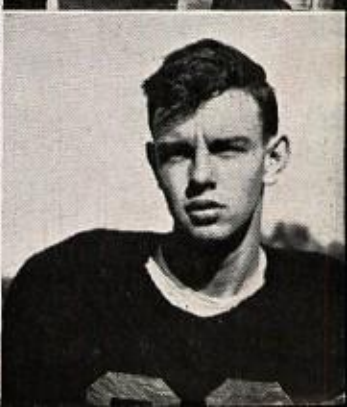

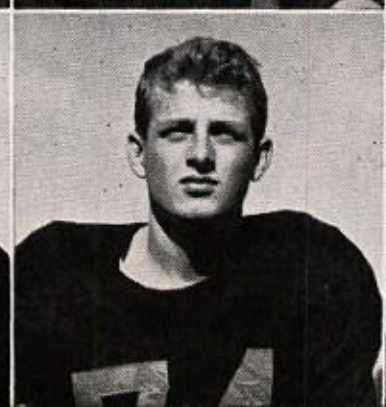

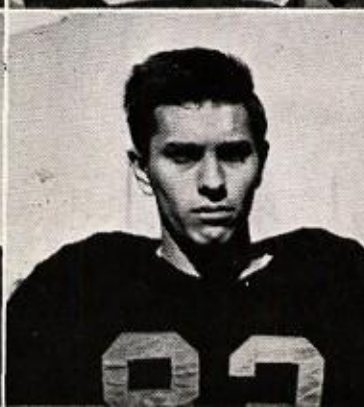

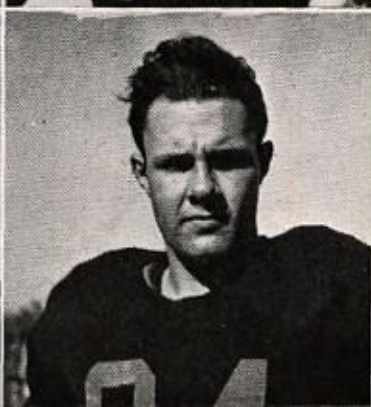

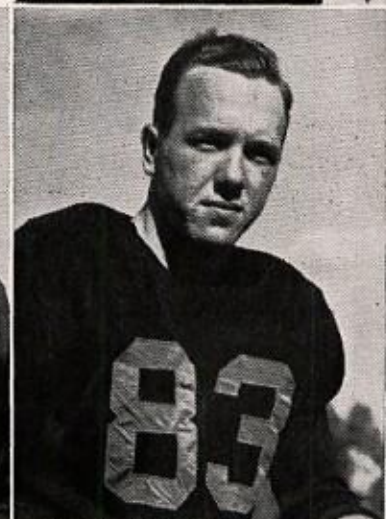

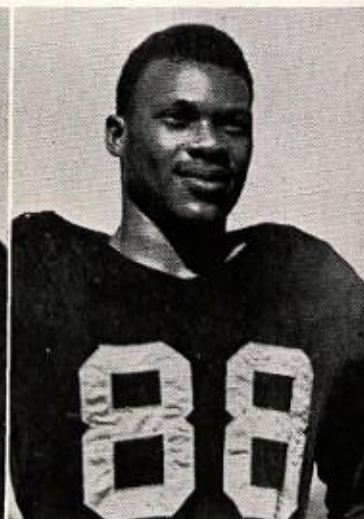

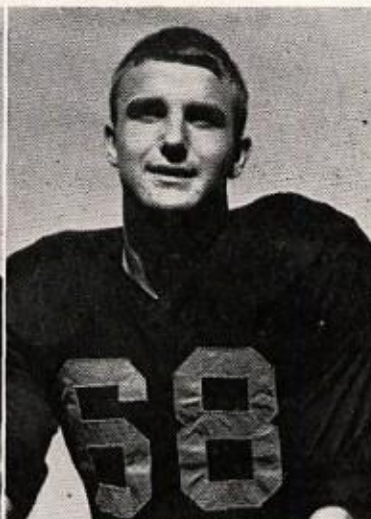

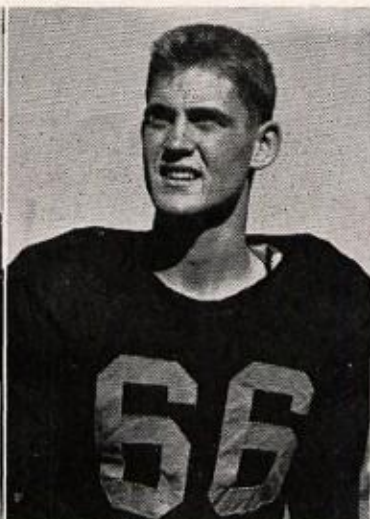

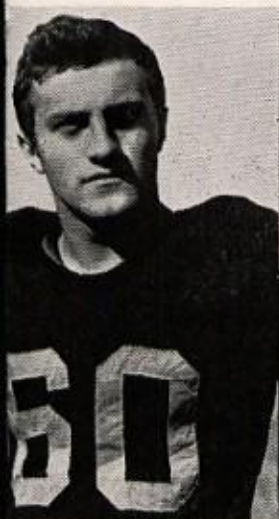

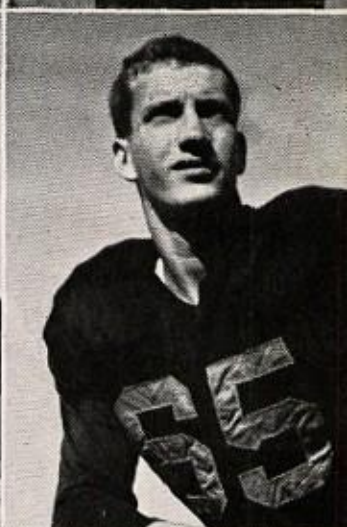

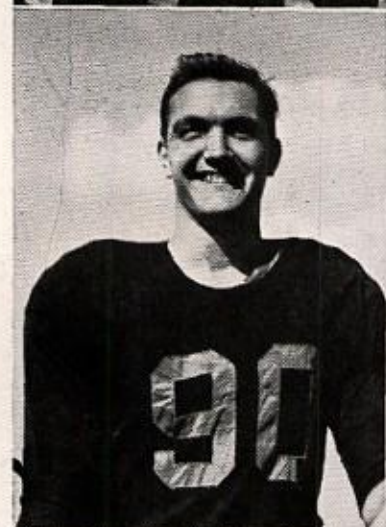

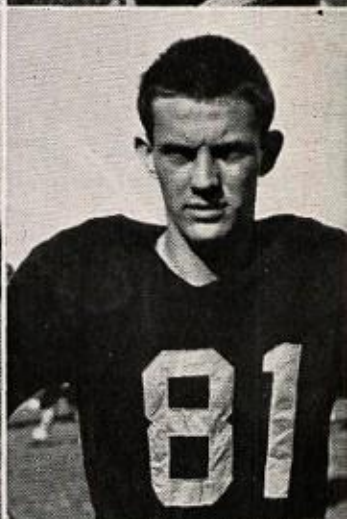

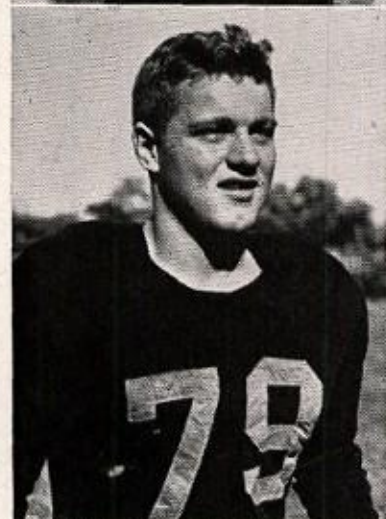

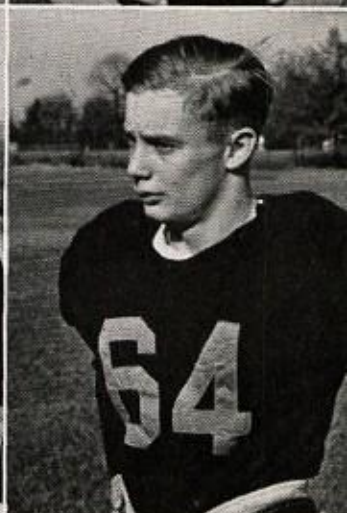

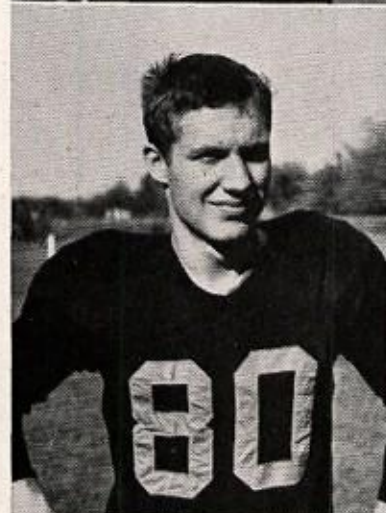

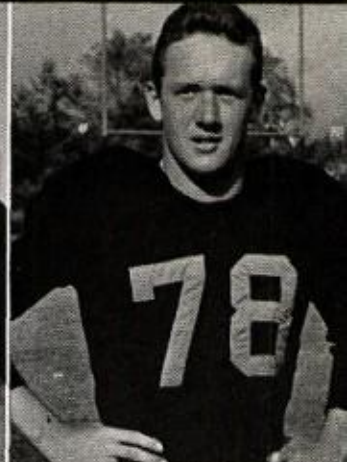

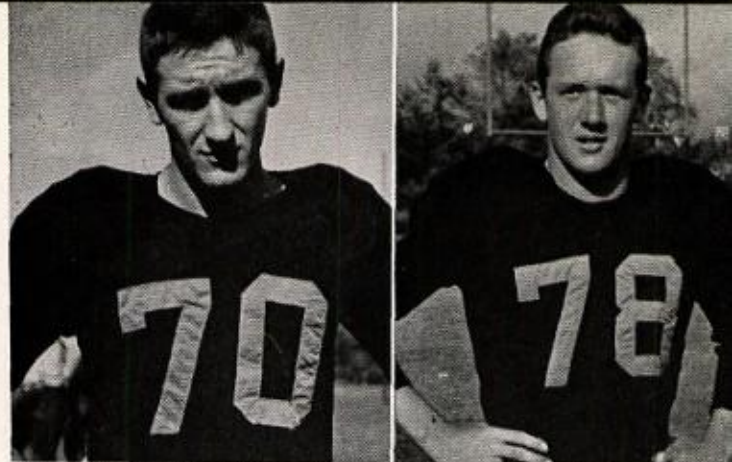

The band marched to "the square"; our traditional rivals were downed again.

Withrow 36 — Woodward 0

The characteristic spirit of the Tigers continued into the last minutes of the season, as the seniors played their last game; Woodward was swamped.

The traditionally stirring and exciting pigskin tussle would never be what it is without the "Come on, Orange!" of the cheerleaders; the twirling batons and swirling skirts of the drum majorettes; the tall, black shako of the drum major; and, behind the scenes, the hard work of the football managers who keep the gears of the team in smooth working condition. Be it resolved: a rising vote of thanks to these unheralded workers behind the heroes.

Nothing really matches the atmosphere of a football game. From the opening whistle until the final gun, King Football, the helmeted hypnotist, reigns over his spectator subjects. The colorful stands on a crisp autumn afternoon; the nocturnal splendor of an illuminated stadium; the cheers as the teams enter onto the field; the electric tension that runs through the crowd as the teams line up for the opening kick-off; the bands as they parade on the field at halftime, as much a part of football as the goal posts; the joyous frenzy and contrasting despair as a player smashes into the end zone; the fighting will of both teams; that jubilant feeling after a hard-fought victory; the let-down sensation after a defeat; cheerleaders; touchdowns; color: these form the unequalled spirit of football.

Around the early part of December a sudden frenzy to push a leather sphere through a hoop suspended ten feet from the floor on a back-board sweeps the land. For three action-packed months, basketball, with its long shots, pivot shots, tip-ins, foul shots, rebounds, fancy dribbling, skillful passing, speed and aggressiveness, cheers and jeers, holds the spotlight. This year's Tiger quintet rolled up a creditable record, its fighting spirit providing Withrow followers with plenty to cheer about.

Mr. Joe Hedges' '49-'50 freshmen cagers enjoyed a banner season, rolling up an impressive record of 10-4. By tripping Woodward 21-15 in the finals, the frosh won the championship of the PHSL Ninth Grade Tournament. Most promising players were Driskell and Fey, co-captains; Hill; Wilson; Lancaster; Ott; and Richards, leading scorer with 93 points.

In his final year as coach, Mr. Edwin Stephens turned out an excellent reserve squad. The smooth-working reserve contingent posted a season mark of 13-2. The final PHSL standings showed Withrow on top. John Srofe dumped 111 points through the hoop to grab scoring honors, followed closely by Rich Wilson with 106 tallies, and Will Ernst, 90.

Coached by John Huheey, filling his second season as head mentor, the determined and spirited Tiger quintet captured fourth place in the P.H.S.L. and second in the Norwood Invitational. Paced by Harry Andreadis and Dave Plunkett, two members of the P.H.S.L. All Star second team, the Tiger five won nine and lost ten. Although five seniors are graduating, the courtmen will be P.H.S.L. title contenders next season, with several returning varsity lettermen and a host of talent from this year's reserve squad.

March 28 through May was baseball time at Withrow. Hopes for the 1950 season, Mr. Huheey's sophomore year at the helm of the baseball team, looked bright. Pre-season practice found twelve lettermen returning, who were to form the nucleus of the squad. On the field the Tigers proved their worth by consistently winning and playing heads-up ball. Chuck Duquette, Hal Broerman, Dan Lamblin, and Will Ernst divided the mound chores while Dick Ernst and Bill Anshutz alternately formed the other half of the battery. The infield was well guarded by Jim Kumpf (1B), Bob Beck (2B), "Sockey" Hughes (3B), and Al McMillen (SS). Charlie Brandenburg, Henry Boston, Ike Misali, Bob Virgil, Don Miller, and Curly Willson saw considerable service in the outfield. Ted Carter, a utility infielder, rounded out the roster. The Tiger's steady play was characterized by constant hustle and fight.

For the first time, Withrow fielded a Reserve baseball squad which played a full schedule. The Reserves were coached by Mr. Melvin Russell.

Track is one of the most popular sports at Withrow, since all of man's natural actions, running, jumping, and throwing, are used in the variety of activities. With the coming of the earliest signs of spring, Coach Nimmo calls Mercuries to train in the gym so that they will be in top physical condition for the season's meets. Gym and swimming teams build strong bodies; netters, Swimming is growing in prestige at Withrow. This year Mr. Wirth, the team's well-liked navigator, had considerable material with which to mold a hard-plunging crew. Hours of diligent practice produced a team which downed Norwood, Purcell, Western Hills, Newport, and landed a fifth in the District Meet. As the season came to a close, our tanksters were stationed in the fourth place slot of the PHSL league.

Co-ordinated bodies swing through difficult exercises as the Gym Team works out on the apparatus. Through interscholastic meets, gymnastics strive for perfection and rhythmic movements. It is not necessarily the intricacy of the exercise, but how it is done, which wins points. From "Ground sticks" to "Strike three," G.A.A. gives

"Come on along; we'll raise a song; clear heaven high for G.A.A." Yes, G.A.A.'ers really do reach high for fellowship and sportsmanship. Four hundred girls interested in sports and fun come together to pit their skill against their companions. All the major sports and many minor ones are offered to keep these athletic-minded girls busy. At the hub of this wheel of activities are its officers, who take on the responsibility of running the club. None of G.A.A. would be possible without the energetic backing of the gym teachers. Their willingness to give up their time to referee and sponsor sports make the club what it is.

the very finest in sports and fun for Withrow girls.

Little known and less appreciated, these energetic managers are the force behind G.A.A. efficiency. Through long hours of detailed work at their chosen sport, they keep precise records of every girl's attendance. A manager's participation in her adopted after-school sport's session is as essential as her maintainment of a successful school and G.A.A. record. But a manager's work is far from completed when her sport's season has come to an end; she then is responsible for tabulating attendance records, submitting a written report of the season's activities, and presenting an oral report at Honor Night Banquet.

With a swish of bats, an impact of balls, and a rousing shout of "Batter up," G.A.A.'s future "Caseys" swing into action. The normal jeering of the umpire, and the spirited cheers combine well in this popular sport. Spring also ushers in the familiar cry, "It's your serve," at the tennis court. These girls really have the low-down on racquet-swinging, from singles to doubles, and put it to use in autumn, too.

These nymphs of Withrow participate bi-annually in their traditional water pageant, presented this year as "Holiday in Hawaii." In the off years, these water enthusiasts turn their talents and efforts towards the gaining of a life saving badge and the feeling of security and accomplishment which accompanies it. Here, education of water safety combines with fun to make Dolphin Club a worthwhile club.

Girls "hepped up" over sports find G.A.A. their club.

As hockey, volleyball, and basketball, three of the four major girls' sports, gets under way, the really active G.A.A.'er puts everything she has into the game. Hockey starts off the field, while the football players work out in another. Any feminine aspirant who can take a few skinned shins and enjoy hurling across the ground at break-neck speed is eligible for this sport. In early winter the sound of bouncing volleyballs may be heard in the girls' gym. After the Christmas holidays end, the girls come to school "raring to go" at basketball. Although girls' basketball is milder than boys', the introduction of several new rules has lessened the difference.

Gals cry, "Ground, sticks. Ground, sticks. Ground, sticks. Bully!"

Hockey, volleyball and basketball entertain athletes.

A fast basketball game offers release from grind of school work.

Volleyball's pert "Volleyettes" show enthusiasm for sport.

Three steps and a leap

Well-balanced members of Dance Club "fly through the air with the greatest of ease." At tryouts, over a hundred girls, including old members, execute graceful "leaps" and "falls" before the exacting eyes of Miss Audrey Wessel and officers. This year, eighty promising, barefoot "Daisy Maes" were accepted. At a rendezvous each Thursday afternoon these active Misses promenaded the gym floor to the music of Bach all the way through the musical ages to Gershwin.

Their labors climaxed in a program, "Dance Through the Ages," given for the C.T.A. on Feb. 14. It showed interpretive work in types ranging from primitive and Egyptian to Renaissance and modern. The dance was presented in moving and appealing manner. Another high spot of the year was the symposium at Woodward, where a handful of chosen members received instruction from a guest teacher. Our petite ballerinas even meditated producing an assembly program for terpsichorean-minded Withrowites.

A strict drum cadence, a brassy blare, a cheer: that's the Withrow band. At least that's how it is to you who watch her, but to us who know her, she is spirit personified. Within her there is much more than talent; there is an unrelenting will which stirs in each member to make our band the best, and the evidence of this is shown every time our band takes the field or bandstand.

Slightly mitigated in sound and volume, but with no less spirit employed, the orchestra acts as a vent for talent unprovided for in the band. Combining efforts with the chorus and glee clubs, the orchestra carries on the Christmas assembly and late Spring Concert. Playing a major role our musical agenda are the Glee Clubs, organized in the last decade by Mr. Leo Graeter, former music director. The Girls' Glee Club, composed of eighty-seven members, participates in the Christmas, Early Spring and Late Spring Concerts. This organization also takes part in Christmas programs at Fountain Square and Lytle Park.

Though smaller, the Boys' Glee Club, with its forty-five members, is just as active. The club sings in the Christmas and Annual Spring Concerts. The greatest pleasure that the boys receive, however, is being in male chorus in the Minstrels. Everybody looks forward with eager anticipation to Spring, when this show begins rehearsal. The Glee Clubs, as the oldest form of extra-curricular music here, command the respect of all.

The Girls' Glee Club practices breathing as well as singing.

while the girls unite their enchanting feminine voices.

A singing person is a happy person; so it is in Sr. Choir.

Closely knit through choral work, Senior choir has built up a high morale with social activities. Numerous events, including the "mixer," a closed party to help old and new members know each other, Christmas, and various "date" parties, are popular. Madrigal, that small group of excellent singers, spends extra time preparing songs in addition to their choir work. Like the parent body, Senior Choir, Madrigal fills many outside engagements, highlighted this year by singing for General Eisenhower.

The gleam in the eye of a Freshman as he vocalizes through Choral Music I is the hope of making Senior Choir. Reaching his gleaming goal that Freshman needs all the skills acquired through these preliminary classes to sight read, learn, and interpret the vast number of songs studied through the year. The Senior Choir, much in demand, makes many outside appearances, especially during the Christmas season. Participation in the Early and Late Spring Concerts requires extensive work, while entering the District contests demands meticulous perfection. In the Minstrels the choir sang Waring's "Country Style" and selections from "H.M.S. Pinafore."

Looking for a concentration of literary talent? Maybe you have this gift yourself. Withrow offers three organizations where you can display it. One of these, Philologia, has the distinction of being the oldest club at Withrow. The other two, Literatas and its big sister, Scribblers, provide an outlet for expression by girls skilled in English.

Philologia, famous for its panel discussions and notorious for its extemporaneous speeches, is restrained by Mr. Srofe, the sponsor. Meeting twice a month at Knox Presbyterian Church, these pursuers of parliamentary procedure, current events, and public speaking obviously derive great pleasure from their art.

Freshman and sophomore girls in Literatas increase their skills in creative writing. Like Miss Lundquist, who guides Literatas, Miss Wood supervises the junior and senior girls' society, Scribblers. Following diversified Literary fields, Scribblers attracts many. These organizations are honorary; therefore, their quality in literary Withrow is high.

Skits depicting historical events are dramatized at social meetings, and this year the history club also offered an assembly in February. Under the sponsorship of Miss Vina Cavendish, Clionian has done much to encourage appreciation and enjoyment of history.

After nineteen years, Gens Togata, Withrow's "tribe of togas," still meets each third Tuesday, still translates popular melodies to be sung, still presents hilariously funny programs of burlesqued Roman history, and still has the fun these lively linguists know how to enjoy. The Latin banquet climaxes the year's social events and is one of the highlights of the schedule. Through the efforts of the club sponsors, Miss Grove and Mrs. Maish, Latin has become a "living" language.

Back in 1919 a small group of Withrow Spanish students gathered for the first meeting of "El Club Espanol." From those few students, the club has grown to a membership of 100. "Get your cookies here." That call marks just one of the many activities of Withrow's Tower-Y girls. This junior-senior organization, known as Y-Teens, is a subdivision of the Y.W.C.A. Throughout the year, these girls bake and sell cookies, conduct a brisk trade in Christmas wrappings, give lively parties, and listen to guest speakers. Under the sponsorship of Miss Graham, this organization endeavors to build Christian character and give service to others.

Beta Hi Y, Senior boys division of the Y.M.C.A., has just one purpose: to develop its members mentally, physically, and spiritually. Mental development is gained through educational addresses by well-known men. Through sports the boys improve themselves physically. Spiritual expansion is furthered by impressive services like the initiation ceremony. Under the competent supervisor, Mr. Vordenberg, the group raises money for scholarships.

Drawing a large membership from all classes, the Tennis Club offers followers of this outdoor sport an opportunity to increase their skill. Since the group is quite large, it is divided into two sections, the beginners and the more advanced players. During the warmer months the courts, both artificial and clay, are supporting a good set of tennis while still others watch or are instructed in the finer points by Mr. Harold Sherman, their well-liked sponsor.

Participants in any boys' sport who are qualified to wear the varsity letter are eligible to join Tiger Club, elite athletic organization. Main goal of the year is the presentation of their scholarship to a deserving athlete. As we grow, so grow the clubs at Withrow. Twenty-five attended the first meeting of the Home Economics Club five years ago; membership today is over seventy-five. These gals major in charm, studying flattering coiffures, charming clothes, and current styles. A cosmetician and a fashion expert demonstrate trends in these fields. A Thanksgiving basket to a needy family and the Christmas party at the General Protestant Orphan's Home carry out the "Service" theme.

Let's meet a busy club: Future Merchandisers. All students in merchandising classes meet twice a month during the fifth period for study under Miss Garnet Gooley. The club tours manufacturing, transportation, and publicity companies. On Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and all day Saturday, they work in the city's stores. Heading this heavy schedule is the presentation of a scholarship to a fellow merchandiser so that he may go even higher in his climb to the top.

Meet Tip Toppers—Withrow's six-foot-plus boys and five-eight-plus girls; who really "reach for the stars." Their chief purpose: to enjoy themselves! So they swim at the Y, go on hayrides, and meet in the homes of members where, possibly, many a tall tale is told. Tip Toppers have already done much growing themselves, and under the sponsorship of Mrs. Konrad, who sets them an example of well-poised height, they continue to grow gracefully in the very best tradition of Withrow.

Sororities, fraternities, and high school team up;

This year, a new chapter was added to the history of the school, one that may be called "The Compromise of 1949." For the first time, sororities and fraternities were officially accepted as part of the social life at Withrow. Together, the faculty and student body worked out a plan acceptable to both. Sororities and fraternities revised their constitutions to meet the liberal terms of the faculty; in return, the sororities and fraternities were very fortunate in obtaining Miss Jean Tilford, highly popular social studies teacher, as their adviser. Twenty-three organizations came in under this plan. This move, it is felt sure, will do much toward promoting better relationships and understanding between the faculty and student body here at Withrow High. Under this program, the groups are more able to carry out such worthy activities as providing scholarships, and helping the underprivileged in America and abroad.

Out of seemingly endless confusion chaos, and catastrophe, each week the hard-working Tower News staff produces one of the top ranking papers in the entire country. The nerve center of Withrow's extra curricular activities, Tower News works hard to uphold its slogan, "If it happened, it's here." If you stray by 106 and hear, "We've got a tombstone," don't be fooled. You're not approaching a grave diggers' meeting but merely the Tower News room. In this metropolis of journalistic activity, social doings, sports, interesting editorials, questionnaires, club news are processed for print.

From the novice reporter up to Editor-in-chief, these students are always kept jumping. It is a reporter's duty to dig up news, take polls, interviews, or just write a story. Page editors must lay out their page and create assignments for reporters. The job never ends, but they experience a triumphant feeling every Thursday when that deadline is met.

In the picture above are some of the others who make Tower News possible. They furnish the pictures, publicity, and conduct the business for our All-American paper.

book reflects the effort of art and literary staffs

Throughout the year, rooms 220 and 125 were headquarters for Operation Annual. In the first, the Art Staff worked diligently, planning layouts and paste-ups, cropping photos, and supervising picture schedules. Bill Drier was kept busy drawing zestful cartoons. In the second, the literary staff carefully molded the King's English into write-ups, picture captions, and headlines. Walls of 220 vibrated to calls of "Where's the dummy?" "Here's that paste-up" and "Toss the art gum" while from 125 blared "What's that character count?" "Who has sig three?" "Where's your copy?" Perhaps you peered into one of these and saw a tired, frustrated student muttering about deadlines. Chances are that poor wretch was a co-editor giving his weekly quota of "blood, sweat, and tears."

The breadwinners of the Withrow Annual do the job and do it well. Our ad salesmen very generously loan us their talents at selling space (for a price). Theirs is the headache of helping to meet the deficit which is the result of offering the Annual to Withrow students at its current reasonable price. The Withrow Annual ad section has been commended by the National Scholastic Press as one of the most unusual such divisions in the U. S. Well done, kids!

"Take the keys over to Mr. Rhollans," are familiar words in the business office of the Annual. The busy occupants of this office can always find work, what with selling annuals, checking accounts, and making senior picture appointments.

"Watch the birdie!" Who else but photographers? Whenever a flash is seen, it is usually the student photographer taking activity pictures. Very little work had been done before, but you can be sure that from now on there will be a flash at all activities.

Mr. Kain shows the cast the risible possibilities of this year's play.

Mr. Whiteside, bored with Mesalia's old maids.

With such comedies as "The Man Who Came to Dinner,"

"I may vomit", not only brought laughs but introduced one of the most fabulous characters of stage, screen, and radio, "The Man Who Came to Dinner." When portly Sheridan Whiteside invaded the Withrow auditorium with his supporting cast it was hard for even the most confirmed sobersides to suppress a smile. From the confused opening till the surprising and calamitous ending, the play extracted audience reactions ranging from smiles, titters, snickers, chuckles, giggles, to guffaws.

"Merry Xmas to all—this is Sheridan Whiteside."

"I may vomit," from Sheridan surprises everyone.

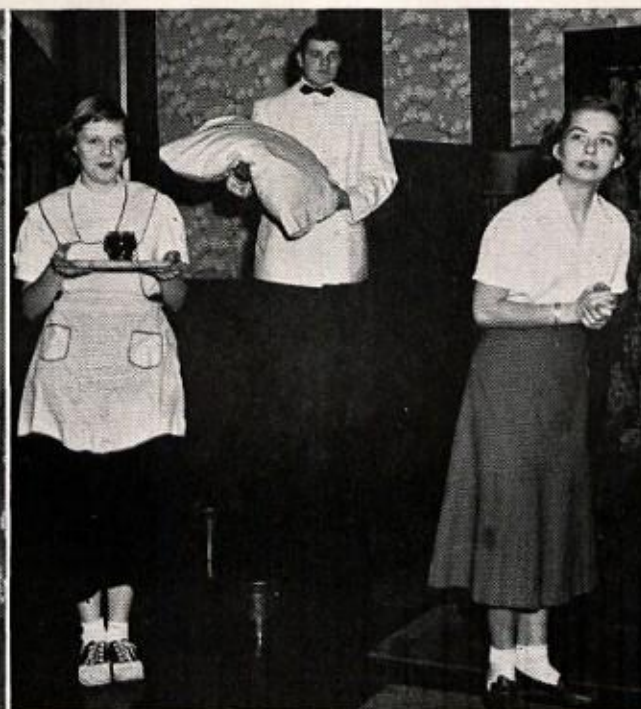

Far from the limelight, the backstage helpers now receive their due applause. Little progress would be made without the help and unflagging spirit of those who built the set, collected properties, prepared publicity, and made-up the characters. Long hours of after-school and evening work culminated in a sturdy and attractive set, all props on hand, (even an Egyptian mummy case) clever advertising via napkins, and convincing make-up. Although the curtain has long descended, let's have a call for those behind the scenes.

these ambitious dramatists bring stage glamour into Withrow Players has gone a long way since the first rubber tire hike and hayride and its movie production, "Growing Pains," in 1936. Granted, this club still serves as one outlet for Withrow dramatic talent; but the annual productions have progressed from one act plays to this year's achievement, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," applauded as one of the best plays the club ever presented. These thespians humbly doff their hats to their capable director and club adviser, Mr. Thomas Dane. Climaxing a year of fun and work, members of Withrow Players indulge body and soul in a traditional picnic.

Since 1927, when its constitution was drawn up, the pounding of the gavel has summoned busy Thalian members to their duties. Juniors and seniors test their talents in the fall when an unlimited number of students are welcomed into the club, which had a 1950 membership of sixty-five. In its early days, Thalian struggled for permission to give public plays but had to settle for a classroom performance open to members only. They won their argument and have turned out such brilliant productions as this year's "Mother Is a Freshman", under Mr. Burkman, director, and Miss Rosenberger, sponsor.

during the theater

Miss Marjorie Rosenberger and Miss Vina Cavendish are the sponsors of Thalian Dramatic Club. This year the play was directed by Mr. Paul Burkman. On opening night one hundred dollars was presented the vice-president of the Cancer Fund; it was Mr. Burkman's desire to give his salary for direction of the play to a worthy cause.

"Well, I love me, even if no one else does."

season ending with Thalian's "Mother Is a Freshman".

They shot high and hit! Members of the Thalian Dramatic Club gave a grand performance in "Mother Is a Freshman." An amused audience enjoyed the situation created by a young widow's entrance to college so that she could pay for her daughter's higher education. Said daughter was a sophomore on the same campus. A senior "big shot," called Bobo, kept everyone in stitches, and Cupid pulled a few strings for a certain professor. The strings became a bit tangled but they were straightened out to the satisfaction of all. The lights softened; then darkness covered the stage; but there remains a pleasant memory.

"Stand back, bums! Everyone can't dance with Abby at once!"

"He charges you a nickle just to shine one shoe." These ponies make the leather look like new in "Chattanooga Shoeshine Boy."

. . . not love, is the strongest thought in our spring

It's the all-time ambition of every pony to dance in the opening number, shown on the facing page. This year's chorus line of precision dancers really made a sensational entrance to the first chords of "Say It With Music." Polishing their partners' shoes (above) are "Chattanooga" ponies. These "shoe shiners" were among the last to appear in this year's production; they had to be good to live up to the standard of Withrow dancers; and they were!

As the director of Presentation Orchestra lifts his baton, the audience hushes and listens to the opening bars of the show. This orchestra is the basis for the entire spectacle. Every member knows well the ring of "We've Gotta Drive, Drive, Drive!" or, "Let's Go, Letter B." All these potential musicians agree that there's no thrill like that of the Finale, when all performers flock on the stage to bid farewell to another clamoring audience until next year.

Since this Annual went to press before the 1950 cast's photograph could be taken, last year's complete company is pictured below.

Behind the spotlights of the Withrow Minstrels were many groups of reliable and enthusiastic students working on various committees. Without these backbone committees, our traditional "Minstrels" could never have been presented. Tickets were made to accommodate vast audiences. Printing and poster committees gave wide publicity. The make-up magicians worked late and skillfully, while the costumes were originated and sewn to make the Minstrels a show of beauty and color.

Of Men and Machines

Machines—linotypes, printing presses, and other printing machines can accomplish feats in moments that would take men alone an unbelievably long time to do. The Lawhead Press is equipped with the latest in automatic printing and binding machines. These machines turn out economical, high quality year books, magazines, and commercial advertising. Even though machines sometimes seem to have all qualities of thinking, they lack one — Imagination. At the Lawhead Press, there are men of intelligence and imagination who design and produce superior printed material. For the best in printing — try the Lawhead Press.

The Modern Touch

A MODERN SALESROOM

Clifford Jacob's modern auto agency is mentioned whenever fine cars are discussed. The building itself is constructed along the smartest lines, with spacious show windows that invite inspection.

MODERN SERVICE

Friendly and efficient service, given at all times, holds old customers and continues to make new ones. An excellently equipped repair and testing shop will meet the demands of the most exacting person.

AND A MODERN CAR

The beautiful 1950 Plymouth here pictured continues its popularity in the low priced field. The DeSoto, a car designed with YOU in mind, has changed the minds of thousands. Drop in at Clifford Jacob's at your convenience, and see these cars for yourself.

Sorry, buddy, on your way—
I'll take the guy with the CHEVROLET!

VORDENBERG CHEVROLET Co.

We don't blame you! Chevrolet is the first and finest car at the lowest cost. Its beautifully styled body, Panoramic visibility, and engine that gives extraordinary performance, accounts for its popularity. By the way, did you know that Chevrolet is the first and only low priced car to offer a choice of either Automatic or Standard Drive? Choose either the Automatic Powerglide transmission or the Extra Easy Hand-E-Gearshift; both spell smooth driving. Yes, we all agree—Chevrolet is the first and finest at lowest cost.
